

Requiem for understanding

WHY?

This question is living rent free in the back of my mind. This small void, that nothing can fill. The constant whisper of skepticism, that gives a feeling that nothing is really real.

This feeling caused a series of unfortunate events, where I was shown infinity and omniscience. And now I have to live with it.

The amount of information and their constant changing is too much for our brain. Even in simple day-to-day life, our brain has to simplify and fill in the missing information, so we can understand, or even comprehend our reality. I was made aware that our brain isn't able to be omniscient.

But that won't stop me from trying.

To achieve my goal, I will have to use a shortcut. I came to the conclusion, if omniscience is out of the question, I will just become all understanding. Same job, different title.

Just as scientists are looking for an equation that solves everything. I am looking for a state of mind that understands everything. And to do that I will create a story like no other. A story of everything.